Community Forum--- Drugs

On Sunday, February 4, the community
forum program in Greenfield, will present a forum on drugs. The forum, designed to aid communication between adults and youths
of this city, will be held at the Greenfield Community College Auditorium.

This program was first proposed by the Council of Churches, and will be under the direction of Mrs. Case of the college, Rev-end Shaw and Mr. Bonander representing the church, and Mr. Casey as a Representative of the Greenfield High School.

Mrs. Case reported that this would be a four session forum the first being held in order to get a general idea of what should be discussed and how it should be presented.

Dr. Al Winder, of the University of Mass.
said Mrs. Case has been invited to conduct the first session next Sunday. He will train group leaders to conduct small group discussions, the small groups will then be combined and the group leaders will then present the arguments brought up in the small groups."

This forum on drugs is the result of the tremendous amount of publicity on drugs in Greenfield recently. Students from the college, the high school and the junior high school, along with parents are urged to attend.

NOTES FROM THE UNDERGROUND

In the small New England town of Brown-pastures, where the cows once grazed and now manure lay, "neath the sun that the police then owned (and still believe they do), a famous man, Vagabojd Q. Illfinished III, was residing. This man was noted for his architecture, and one day in his home on Federal Street in that fair town, decided to give Brownpasture his name by building a hotel.

And so, after the idea of a hotel was tossed back and forth at a town council meeting the project was deemed "not Obsene", and the hotel was erected, and tourism grew rapidly.

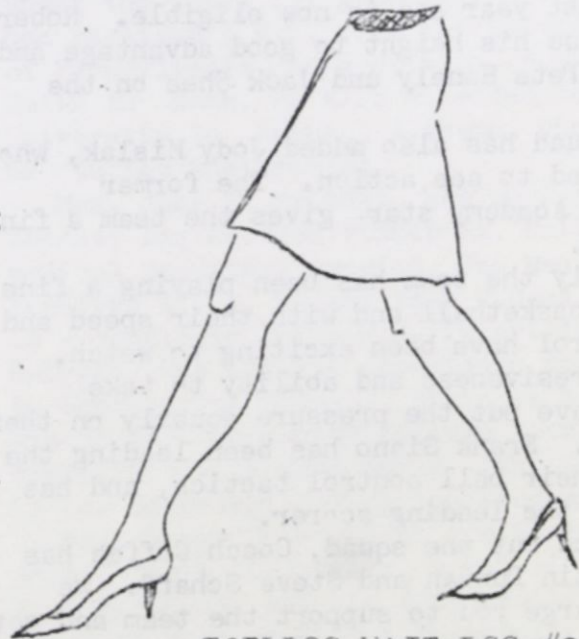

Years passed, and slowly thw hotel corroded along with thw town, and all the people were out to lunch, slowly the minds of all counted and then came a savior.... a junior college. The college, Brownpastures Community college brought many young people to the town, and the young people needed a place to stay. Now it happened that at the time the college began to bloom, a young man, from a neighboring hamlet, who had escaped the wrath of loss of mind, somehow fell into the managreship of the hotel and he began to make the hotel modern. In the nearby city of Leapingmedows, situated many miles away, the owner of the hotel lived. He was an insane man. The insane man, Irving Spoloman Hackfellow, heard via the grape vine that his hotel was being lived in by those vile animalistic beings called students, and to compound this desecration, he heard that the place was being renovated...gastly!!

Promptly, the great mediator of the naval this tycoon in the hotel business, had the manager fired to keep the town happy, as new trends in this small town were considered obsene. A new man, Tony (the shiv)Barbossa became a good manager (as far as the town was concerned). He accused the students of things they hadn't done, went into wild fits of violent insanity, and threw some of the students out of the hotel. He was a man among men, a true savior to the town...a God.

Now as the years pass, and the hotel, along with the police force, or junior gestapo, drive the students away from the famous building, and try to drive them away from the town. Brownpasture is again growing into the era of the past...the people cheer and scream out in elation at their victory...

..."We are saved" they cry, "we have driven off the devil, we have rid ourselves of those creatures who do such publicly gross things as think!!!

Now in Brownpastures, the college struggles but the people struggle harder, it is evident that on this plain of mouldy manure, purity will continue to reign.

New Faces on Basketball Team

With two games on tap this week, the G.C.C. squad will have a different look in personnel. Tom Suchanek and Jim Conant have moved on and they will be missed. Tom and Jim were both starters, and averaged 14 ppg. In addition they were both rugged under the boards. Tom will start spring training with the Houston Astros baseball team, as a pitcher, and Jim has gone to U. Mass.

With an away game against Mt. Wachusett tonight and a rematch against Berkshire Saturday the club is a bit apprehensive with the loss of the two Greenfield boys. Coach Coffee has guided them to a 6-2 record for the first semester and feels he has the players to continue his winning ways. To fill the gap he has 6' 4" Steve Robertson in the pivot, and Bobby Eldrich, who lead the team in scoring last season. Bob averaged 20 pts a game last year and is now eligible. Robertson can use his height to good advantage and help out Pete Hanely and Jack Shea on the boards.

The squad has also added Jody Mislak, who is expected to see action. The former Sanderson Academy star gives the team a fine sixth man.

Presently the team has been playing a fine brand of basketball and with their speed and ball control have been exciting to watch. Their aggressiveness and ability to take control have put the pressure squarely on their opponents. Frank Siano has been leading the team in their ball control tactics, and has also been the leading scorer.

To round out the squad, Coach Coffee has added Justin Duncan and Steve Schaff. We strongly urge you to support the team and get out to Saturday's game. The game will be held at Frontier Regional High School, at 7:30 P.M., in South Deerfield.

Saturday, February third, a coffee house will open in the basement of the Unitarian church of Greenfield. The coffee will open at 8:30 P.M. The project is under the direction of Alfred McLung Lee III, an art professor at G.C.C. and Jim Clark, sports editor for the Daily Hampshire Gazette.

The pioneer Poets will read their poetry.

The atmosphere, said Lee, will be relaxed, that is to say there will be no structure. At long last there will be a place where students can spend an entertaining evening at no charge. The future seems very promising, and it is hoped that students will avail themselves to this excellent opportunity.
